U.S. INVADES BIAK. Veteran American invasion forces, supported by a heavy naval and air bombardment, advanced 200 miles westward along the Dutch New Guinea coast, and invaded the shoe-shaped Biak Island, key airfield base. The Dutch New Guinea island is only 600 miles from Davao in the Philippines. Gen. MacArthur said, "For strategic purposes, this marks the practical end of the New Guinea campaign." Today's news dispatches reported the Japs were putting up strong resistance on Biak. (International)

NAZIS BREAK
RED SILENCE

6-Week Lull on Russian Front
Ended as Germans Open Attack.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, May 31—German forces have broken the six weeks' lull in land fighting on the long eastern front by making a small dent in Russian lines north of East in Romania, a Moscow communique said today.

The Nazis opened the attack with "large forces of tanks and infantry—but succeeded in making only 'an insignificant wedge into our defense' as a cost of 'heavy losses in men and material,' the broadcast communique declared.

Although the German attacks were described as sharp, a dispatch from Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press War Correspondent in Moscow, said they appeared to be an attempt to upset Russian troop concentrations rather than the beginning of a real offensive. It still was too early, however, Gilmore said, to estimate their full significance.

It is about 180 miles north-east of the front line, the Germans have claimed the Red army was massing its forces for a drive on that source of fuel supply.

Moscow also reported fighting northwest of Witkask in white Russia in the north, declaring Red Army troops beat back a German drive, killing 400 of the enemy.

It told of air and sea attacks on German shipping in Narva Bay, asserting bombers from the Red Banner Baltic fleet sank three minesweepers, a high-speed landing barge and a motor patrol boat, while warships sank two minesweepers and damaged another.

The eastern front has been virtually deadlocked, but both the Russians and Germans have predicted a new outbreak of action would accompany the allied invasion of Europe from the west.

U. S. Bombers Blast Germany
After Establishing New Record

Americans' Planes Go Into Fifth Day of Heaviest Raids After Night Blows by RAF.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, May 31—Strong fleets of American bombers bore deep into Europe today in the wave of continued assaults by the RAF, and Berlin radio broadcasts warned that enemy bomber formations were over Brandenburg province and that other allied planes appeared over the Brunswick-Hannover area.

There were indications that some of the U. S. daylight raiders had penetrated to Berlin itself. Before they faded from the air, German radio stations warned that enemy bomber formations were over Brandenburg province and that other allied planes appeared over the Brunswick-Hannover area.

From 250 to 500 of the Eighth Air Force's heavy bombers attacked four key railroad yards in the western reach and an airbase in occupied France. More than 1,000 fighters went with them.

Flights above and beyond borders of tactical airfield bombing the invasion coast, the Fortresses and Liberators smashed crowded yards at Hamm, Osnabruck, Schaet, 10 miles southeast of Dortmund, and Soest, 15 miles southeast of Hamm.

The RAF's overnight attacks were concentrated on military installations along the French invasion coast, but Mosquito bombers penetrated into Germany to blast the chemical center of Leverkusen. Not a single plane was lost in the operations which also included mine-laying in enemy waters.

So heavy was the assault on the French coast—apparently concentrated on the area between Boulogne and Dunkerque—that the channel trembled from the blasts.

Berlin radio reported allied planes over western Germany during the night, and Balkan stations were temporarily blacked out, suggesting Italy-based bombers might be striking simultaneously at southeastern Europe.

The overnight activity followed a great demonstration of American air power yesterday, when 3,200 bombers and fighters from bases in both Britain and Italy blasted military targets in Germany, Austria, France, Belgium and Yugoslavia.

There were 1,000 Flying Fortresses and Liberators, escorted by more than 1,200 fighters, in the armada striking from Britain. Targets in Germany included aircraft factories at Dessau, Oshersleben and Halberstadt and railroads at Hanoi, Diepholz, Rinteln, Orlenburg, and Bad-Zweibrücken—the last three near Hamburg.

Other Britain-based American planes hammered railway yards in Belgium and France, and fortifications in the Pas de Calais area along the French coast.

A U. S. communique said the raiders had knocked down 64 Nazi planes for a loss of 11 bombers and nine fighters.

Approximately 1,000 American planes from Mediterranean bases struck simultaneously at war plants near Linz and Wiener-Neustadt in Austria and at enemy concentrations in Yugoslavia.

SEAMAN FROM MARION KILLED;
FLIER MISSING

Families Get Notices as Pacific and Italian Fighting Add to Casualty Lists.

Names of two Marion county men in military service were added to the casualty lists today.

Fueran First Class Paul G. Hough of Marion, previously listed as missing, was reported killed in a ship sinking off Guadalcanal more than a year ago.

Staff Sgt. Willard E. Mossbarger of south of Marion was reported missing in action in aerial warfare over Italy.

Missing Seaman
Declared Dead

Paul G. Hough, 20, fireman first class, U. S. Navy, reported missing in action May 7, last year, has been declared dead, according to word received from the U. S. Navy department by his mother, Mrs. Orpha Hough of near Essex.

Fireman Hough was aboard a ship sunk by the enemy in action off Guadalcanal the afternoon of May 7, 1943, the message stated.

He was inducted Sept. 9, 1942, and received his training at the U. S. Naval Training station, Great Lakes, Ill. His last visit home was just before Thanksgiving, 1942, and he left the United States in mid-January last year.

His last letter to his family was dated April 6, 1943. In letters received by his family he told of studying for an examination, but he had not advised them he had taken it. His advancement to fireman first class was authorized after he had been reported missing in action.

Fireman Hough was born in Marion May 25, 1923, to Bert and Orpha Hough. He attended the public schools here and at Essex and was a member of the Union Baptist church near Essex.

Prior to going into service he was employed at the Scioto Ordnance Plant and made his home with a brother, Lee Hough, who lived at 191 North avenue. Surviving are his mother, living near Essex, his father, who makes his home with a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hough of 430 Mary street, two brothers, W. A. Hough of Mary street, and Lee Hough of near Richmond, and a sister, Mrs. Juanita Coats of Portland, Ind.

Son Missing In Big Italian Drive

A Memorial day message from the war department brought word to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mossbarger of the Prospect pike three miles south of Marion that their son, Staff Sgt. Willard E. Mossbarger, 20, is missing in action.

No word has been received from him since he took part in air action over Italy on May 12. The news, made a little more difficult because it came on Memorial day, was especially hard to accept because they were looking forward to an early reunion with their son.

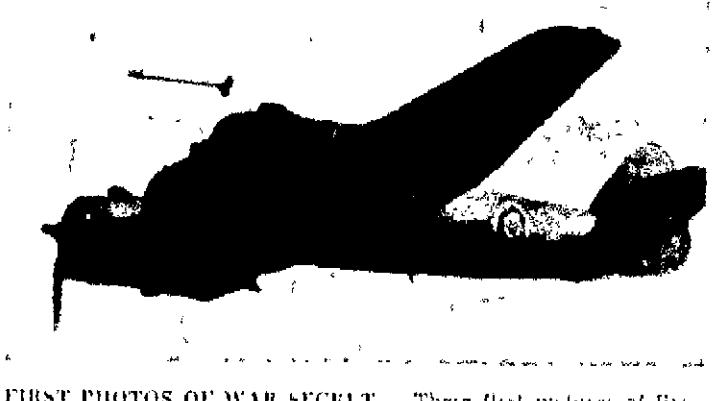

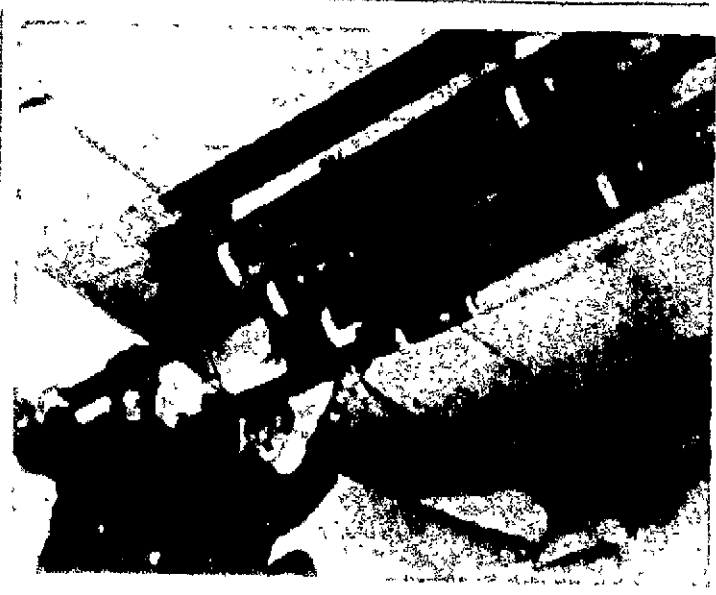

Missions Completed
He had written recently that he had completed his assigned number of missions and would be home as soon as replacement fliers arrived at Sardinia where he was based. His last letter home, written May 8, dwelled on his plans to return to the States, and he voiced the hope he would be home in time to celebrate his twenty-first birthday anniversary with parents on July 18.

The May 12 action in which he was reported missing was the start of the Allies' "big push" in Italy, the one that has carried them to the outskirts of Rome. Hundreds of planes were hurled into the start of that offensive, and Sgt. Mossbarger was engineer-gunner on one of them.

Although restrictions kept Sgt. Mossbarger from writing much about his experiences, he hinted at having taken part in lively action when he told his parents recently that the bomber on which he flew was "shot up" and that the crew had gone through such strenuous days of warfare that the entire crew had been sent to a rest camp.

While at the rest camp, Sgt. Mossbarger planned to send home his medals and other awards, but a fire in his tent at the rest camp destroyed all of them. He wrote he hoped to get new ones soon to replace those that were lost.

Sgt. Mossbarger went to North Africa in April of 1943 and moved into Sardinia after it fell to the Allies.

FIRST PHOTOS OF WAR SECRET. These first pictures of British rocket-gun installations on attack planes show (top) a battery of four gun-launchers on the under side of an RAF Beaufighter, wing with two rockets in place and two being loaded by ground crew men and (bottom) one rocket hot on its way just after being fired from a plane in flight. Hits by these guns have wreaked havoc among enemy U-boats and convoys.

Thousands See Memorial Day
Parade, Tribute to War Dead

Marion Program Attracts One of Largest Turnouts in Years;
Cleveland Man Principal Speaker.

Marion citizens yesterday paid tribute to men from Marion and Marion county who have given their lives in their country's armed forces. A parade through the business district to Marion cemetery and a program in the cemetery marked formal observance of Memorial day here.

One of the largest crowds in recent years turned out to see the parade, and officials in charge of the event estimated that some 10,000 persons saw the marching units.

The parade marched to the cemetery at 10:45 a. m. and included members of veterans' organizations and auxiliaries, Marion police and firemen, Girl Scouts, national organizations, labor organizations and auxiliaries, C. M. Ohio State guard, and disabled veterans of all wars. The Eagles' band and Harding High school band furnished music along the line of march. After ceremonies at the cemetery the parade returned and was retired at the post office.

BRITISH NEAR TOWN 14 MILES
FROM CAPITAL

Headquarters Report Germans
Intend To Defend Eternal
City at All Costs.

BULLETIN
By The Associated Press
NAPLES, May 31—American heavy bombers today attacked the Phleget region of Romania.

By The Associated Press
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, May 31—British troops advanced to a point just south of coastal Pescara Nuova, 14 miles south of Rome, and the German radio said today dramatic street fighting was in progress inside Volterra, Alban hills road junction 18 miles from the capital.

Along the 75-mile front from Valmontone to the Alban region north of Cassino, the Eighth army advanced steadily against withdrawing German rear guards, taking half a dozen or more towns.

But in the culled area of the Rome line generally 16 to 20 miles south of the Eternal City, enemy defenses were stubborn and stalled along 25 miles of battle zone stretching from Valmontone around the southern slopes of the Alban hills to Campo Formido at the sea.

At some points west of Volterra, the Allies were within six miles of the Pope's summer home at Castel Gandolfo.

The loss of Volterra would cripple seriously the Nazi efforts to maintain the present front guarding Rome, despite their obvious willingness to gamble all their available reserves and materiel.

"Strong enemy resistance is being encountered by the Fifth army all along the enemy line from Valmontone to the sea, the allied communique said. It is now clear that the enemy intends to hold this line at all costs."

Boiling away on the left flank, the British have crossed the Molete river all along the coastal sector. They worked their way through the village of L'Amercano, on the coast 18 airline miles from the mouth of the Tiber. They also occupied Ardea, two and a half miles east and slightly south of Cassino, forming a coastal terminus of the German fortress wall extending through Volterra to Valmontone, key to the Via Cassiana, 20 miles southeast of Rome.

Americans fought virtually yard by yard into the outskirts of Villa Ciccolini, just southeast of the bulkworks town of Lanuvio, in the Alban hills 16 miles southeast of Rome.

The Eighth army wheeled steadily forward against enemy strongholds through the mountainous terrain of central Italy, occupying such towns as Alfedena, Fontana, Strangolagalli, Pofi, Cacciano and Arpino and closing to within four miles of Fregene— a major exit for the desperately fleeing Nazis on that sector of the front.

The enemy was reported to have thrown all available troops into an all-out effort to hold his last fortress wall before Rome—at least until the troops were drawn in the face of the Eighth army and make good their escape.

It is now apparent that months were taken in preparation of this steel and stone shield barring the way to the Eternal City. Unofficial opinion was expressed that a mighty drive would split it wide open.

A front-line report by Associated Press War Correspondent Daniel De Luce said the Americans, although heavily opposed in the Volturno sector by the German division, still were shelling highway 6 by daylight and that limited enemy traffic was slipping through during the night.

MORE PASSENGER TIRES
By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, May 31—Announcing a 12.5 per cent increase in new passenger tires available to civilians in June, the office of price administration (OPA) reported today the demand still far exceeds production and emphasized the need for continued conservation.

War Summary
PACIFIC—Japs put up strong defense to block Americans from prize airfield on Biak Island.
ITALY—British advance up coastal flank of 5th army to point 14 miles below Rome. Allied headquarters say Germans intend to defend Eternal City at all costs.
AIR RAIDS—Heaviest air raids go into fifth day as U. S. bombers return to Continent after RAF night raid.

Victory Garden Campaign Falling Short of National Committee's 22,000,000 Goal

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., May 31—Throughout the country as a whole, on the basis of victory gardens planted so far, this year's victory garden campaign is short of its goal, in spite of the intensive efforts of the National Garden Advisory Committee.

As of today the Gallup Poll finds that only about 17,500,000—roughly one-half of all U. S. families—have planted vegetable gardens. The goal of the National Garden Advisory Committee this year is 22,000,000.

Approximately two and one-half million families say they intend to plant gardens, but even assuming all of these families carry out their intention, the victory garden goal will come to only about 20,000,000—two million short of the goal.

Victory Garden campaign officials have pointed out that adverse weather conditions in the central section of U. S. are a late spring in the northern, especially the north eastern, section has delayed garden plantings. These factors may account in part for the present lag.

Approximately two and one-half million families say that while they had gardens last year, they do not intend to plant any this year. When field reporters asked these people why they do not intend to plant anything this year, nearly half said they have no space. Most of the others said they are too busy with their regular work and have no time for a garden or said they felt their gardens last year weren't worth the effort.

Twelve million of the gardens already planted are located in farm areas or in towns with population of less than 10,000. Three million more are located in cities with populations from 10,000 to 100,000. Only two and one-half million of the gardens are located in cities with populations over 100,000.

Night Club Tax Cut Tacked on Debt Bill
By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, May 31—A bill raising the public debt limit above the quarter-trillion dollar mark was the vehicle today for an effort in the senate to cut the tax on night club checks.

The present debt limit of $210,000,000 is rapidly being approached, and the treasury says it is imperative to raise the ceiling to $260,000,000 before the fifth war loan with its $16,000,000,000 goal opens June 12. The house passed the bill at $240,000,000 after revising the language to define the debt as including the current redemption value of U. S. securities, rather than their maturity value.

The senate finance committee went back to the original language, including the $280,000,000,000 maximum. The amendment to whittle the cabinet tax from 30 per cent to 10 per cent was prepared by Senators McCarran (D-Nev.) and Downey (D-Calif.).

U. S. Plane Output Set at 100,000 This Year
By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, May 31—United States land forces will make their assault on Europe backed up by warplane production which the government estimates is 4 to 1 ahead of Germany and more than 7 to 1 ahead of Japan.

A joint report by the war production board and the aircraft production board disclosed today this country has turned out 171,257 planes since Pearl Harbor and will make 100,000 planes this year alone.

Stacking up the gains against estimates of axis production, the report noted that in 1936 Germany was building five planes for every one made here and by early 1942, the German year of peak production, this country had surged ahead.

Prisoners Available for Work in Gardens
By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., May 31—German prisoners of war will be available in the fifth service command this summer to help with America's food for victory program.

Command headquarters here announced yesterday that the prisoners, most of whom are held at Camp Perry, O., and Camp Atterbury, Ind., would be available for gardening and food processing during the peak months of August, September and October.

Maj. Donald M. McLeod, chief of the prisoner of war branch, said, however, the prisoners could only work within a 60-mile radius of their camp inasmuch as they are not allowed to be absent from the stockade for more than 12 hours at a time.

Bread Growing Scarce in Cincinnati Stores

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, May 31—The supply of bread in grocery stores dwindled further today as 400 bakery drivers-streetsmen and supervisors continued their work stoppage in protest against action by 12 Cincinnati bakeries and one in Hamilton in appealing a war labor board order for a wage increase.

Harold J. Zeln, secretary-treasurer of an AFL bakery drivers union, indicated he expected the WLB again to request the men to return to work or to turn the dispute over to the U. S. Conciliation service. The WLB Monday told the union, a unit of the teamsters, that no action could be taken until the men ended the stoppage.

The appealed WLB order gave the drivers-streetsmen increases of $1.10 a week and supervisors $2.75, and left to negotiation a question of compensation for supervisors. Zeln rejected the award as unsatisfactory and said the union's complaint was against the companies' appeal.

EXTRA "SUNSHINE" VITAMINS!

Every single quart is extra-fortified with 400 units of Vitamin D, the "sunshine" vitamin, so necessary for growth and health! Especially important to children, because it promotes development of straight sturdy bones and sound teeth. That's why so many doctors recommend Borden's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk.

IT'S REAL ECONOMY, TOO!

No more pouring off the rich creamy part of the bottle, leaving the remainder to go to waste! No more coaxing to get Junior to drain his glass. The even texture and tempting flavor mean you won't waste a single drop of Borden's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk. Naturally, it's much better for cooking, too!

Why Homogenized Milk is Better!

This is a microphotograph of milk just as it comes from the cow. Notice the large globules of butterfat. These separate and rise to the top, forming a layer of cream, and leaving "skim" below.

This microphotograph shows the same milk after homogenization. The fat globules are broken into tiny particles and "suspended" throughout all of the milk. Separation into cream is eliminated.

Boyle Balks At Horse Meat But Kentuckian Savors It

By HAL BOYLE
A Correspondent

May 31—I thought I was going to eat a horse.

Most people in Marion are unimpressed and unbothered by the fact that a horse is a horse.

But to me, a horse is a horse.

When the waiter brought in three chucks of "steak" on a platter, Elizabeth fell at once on her portion, rare and all but floating in juice.

"Delicious," she exclaimed.

I looked across the table at Whitehead. He cut a small piece, smeared it liberally with mustard, popped it into his mouth, chewed once and swallowed.

"Wonderful," he said weakly, "just wonderful."

I took a small bit. It tasted savory—much like ordinary steak but before I could swallow I visions of all the horses I ever saw or heard of passed through my mind, and the piece of meat felt like a lump of rock as it went down. I could see Black Beauty, Man O' War, old Dan Patch and Traveler. I could see Tom Mix's Tony and the big, reproachful brown eyes of Frances, the old mare who used to pull our grocery wagon around a quarter of a century ago in Kansas City. My ears rang with hoofbeats, and something inside me said nay. (No pun.)

That ended my bout with horse steak. I couldn't eat another bit if it would end the war. Elizabeth gaily polished my piece and, surprisingly, so did Whitehead.

"You traitor to Kentucky," I accused.

"Lissen, I used to lose quite a bit of money on these nags at the derby," Don said. "I'm just enjoying my revenge."

"I don't see why you have any prejudice against horse meat," said Elizabeth. "The horse doesn't have any prejudice against Americans."

Encouragement Wasted

The Swiss proprietor, M. Cannon, noted my feeble effort.

"The English don't care much for horse meat," he admitted, "although it is certainly one of the most healthful foods they could eat. Doctors prescribe it for many people because it is rich with blood vitamins."

I just wanted to get out.

M. Cannon said most of his guests are French or Belgian, but with a good sprinkling of French Canadians.

I hoped I wasn't keeping anyone from his regular seat.

Most of our steaks come from horses in Scotland and the meat is more ruggedly speckled than beef. We sell only steaks, but some places also have horse liver and tongue. It's a good dish, horse's tongue. Try it some time. You'll be surprised how well you'll like it.

I did get out.

Elizabeth said she felt so full or empty she could hardly keep from running—and she did, eating a taxi.

"Musta been thoroughbred we ate," said Don.

The rest of the day I felt like a Shetland pony was running around in my stomach. I'm sure that steak wasn't carved off Pegasus. I guess packing horse-leathers out of my teeth could have made it worse.

I hereby bequeath to the French all my dinner rights in old gray, boiled, baked or dried.

Elizabeth, who says she prefers a gravy-covered slab of horse to pork.

The restaurant was small and its tablecloths far from snow-white, but it was so crowded we had to wait several minutes before being seated. The proprietor, Maurice Cannon, a stocky, white-haired Swiss, left no doubt of the situation. Behind the cash register a big sign reads: "All steaks served in this establishment are horse meat."

One Sticks to Spaghetti

All of us ordered steaks except Anita, who decided it was her day to be a vegetarian—and took spaghetti.

When the waiter brought in three chucks of "steak" on a platter, Elizabeth fell at once on her portion, rare and all but floating in juice.

"Delicious," she exclaimed.

GETS REVENGE. Leading his Mustang squadron beyond Berlin, Capt. Mike Sobanski, above, of New York City, wreaked the revenge he had been planning for the last five years. His squadron destroyed six planes, blew up an ammunition dump and damaged two warehouses, a factory, three military trucks and a radio station. In 1939, German pilots strafed a train on which Sobanski was riding, breaking three of his ribs and starting him on a series of hardships. Now he has paid off.

Bundles for America Knitters Needed

A large supply of yarn for the knitting of socks, helmets and sweaters for the men in the Navy has been received by the local chapter of Bundles for America, it was announced today by Miss Maud S. Gorbam, head of the organization here.

Those in charge of the work are asking that the knitters do not allow their interest in the work to lag because of the summer months, but rather speed up the production in order to have the articles ready for shipment to the men by late summer and early fall.

Shipments must be made early in order that the greatly needed articles reach the men in countries where winters are severe in time and also that they be available to the men departing for bases where this protection will be needed.

Yarn for knitting these articles may be obtained at the home of Miss Gorbam at 429 South Main street.

Railroad Yards

PREPARATION for invasion of Europe started many months ago back in the railroad yards of America.

For it was here that the thousands of landing barges, special boats, guns, munitions and supplies first started on the long journey from production lines to battle lines.

In increasing quantities, Erie and other American Railroads are carrying a steady flow of materials and equipment to assure our troops every chance of success in the greatest assault ever attempted in history.

And the job will continue to grow greater each day.

But your railroads will get the job done with the help of the public, shippers and government agencies. In war, as in peace, Erie and other American Railroads provide fast, safe, dependable transportation.

HELP WIN THE BATTLE OF TRANSPORTATION

Do war work and get excellent pay working for the Erie. Both skilled and unskilled workers are needed immediately to keep supplies flowing to the battlefield. Apply to the nearest Erie office or the Railroad Retirement Board.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, May 31.—A program of social action emphasizing other things, establishment of a general world organization for peace and understanding of organized labor and a "Christian world economy," today carried the approval of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States in America.

The program championed by the assembly at its meeting yesterday also urged participation in government, expression of opposition to the poll tax and issued an "unconditional statement" against anti-semitism.

A general international organization, to be formed at the "nearest practicable date," was described as necessary by the church, and a report by the church's committee on social education and action said:

"The general assembly over the years has given strong support to the United States in a world organization."

In 1917 the assembly endorsed a world peace organization and in 1923 urged the United States to join the League of Nations.

"The time is at hand when a concrete beginning should be made to implement the Missionary declaration and the Christian revolution," which recognized need for a world peace program, the assembly said.

The church reaffirmed its approval of organized labor and collective bargaining as a "more effective solution to labor problems," and recommended a study of industrial relations among pastors and church membership. The "essential purpose" of the President's fair employment committee also was approved, with a request that it receive legislative sanction rather than continue operating on executive order.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 31, 1941

Service Shared by Many

ONE of the things that comes to the mind of every person who has a chance to look backstage in Marion's war effort is the host of persons who have quietly and without any recognition or donations performed some unusual service either for his or her employer or for Uncle Sam.

These are the unassuming Marion patriots who, for one thing, are too numerous to list for publication even if their names and the stories about them could be obtained. Many of their stories couldn't be told for reasons of national security because they involve war secrets.

Take for example one incident a few weeks ago when a group of railroad workers here worked around the clock, from top officials on down, to do a hurry-up job of prime urgency.

Other examples by the dozen could be found in the factories of Marion where workers and executives alike have shelved their work-a-day routine to bend almost superhuman efforts to a new rush assignment from one of the branches of the armed forces.

While we're hitting the high spots, we might as well mention the bedeviled personnel directors of the factories who have put through some hectic months trying to staff the war plants for these hurry-up jobs in the midst of a lack of manpower. And when they get the seemingly impossible job done, they often see some order cancelled that makes weeks of tedious work practically useless. But that's the tempo of war, and most of them are adjusted to it by this time.

The ranks of the war bond drive organization include dozens of persons who have quietly promised themselves to back up some son at the front by giving every spare hour from the job to selling war bonds. Their quiet determination and persistence rather aches some of the less hardy persons who had thought they were doing a pretty good job themselves.

No mention of these persons would be complete without some reference to businessmen, for most of them have quietly taken a war jolt that few persons hear about. With their life's earnings invested in their businesses, they are caught between government restrictions, scarcity of merchandise, high-priced merchandise and a "less essential" manpower rating that gives war factories the right to hire their workers away from them and leaves them little official help in getting someone to take that worker's place. No, this isn't comment devoted to sympathy with all the persons who have taken a rap in the war. Nor are those listed in the above paragraphs even a fraction of those that should be mentioned.

These lines have just one purpose—to plant the thought that perhaps the person next to you on the job or in the bus probably is doing his full measure, in one way or another, to keep the war effort rolling and to keep his own chin up in trying times. It's an appeal for you, with all your own troubles and difficulties, not to lose sight of the fact that others have their troubles and difficulties. We'd probably place a little higher estimate on our neighbor if we knew all the sacrifices, little and big, he's making these days.

What Is the Joke?

AT HIS Friday press conference, correspondents report, President Roosevelt again was in high spirits when asked whether he had reached his decision on being a candidate for a fourth term. After a great deal of hearty laughter, he said time would tell.

It is impossible to understand what is behind this president's attitude. Mr. Roosevelt knows there are enough Democratic delegates pledged in his favor to assure him the nomination. He knows that he can have it if he wants it. He knows there is no other Democratic candidate in sight for the presidential nomination. He knows the party is laying its plans on the assumption he will be the candidate. He knows he has been selected by the party organization's radical left-wing and that refusal to accept nomination under the circumstances would leave the political coalition which has been supporting him, and which he, in turn, has been supporting, high and dry.

To say that he is a candidate for his fourth nomination would be, under the circumstances, merely a formality. It would dignify the pre-convention proceedings. It would perform for his coalition the same service performed for the Republican party when Gov. Bricker rejected the tantalizing technique of playing coy and hard-to-pin-down and announced in a declarative statement that he was a candidate for his party's nomination. Yet, Mr. Roosevelt continues to see something funny in his refusal to admit that he is what everybody believes him to be—a candidate for reelection. What is the joke? If there suddenly has come to be something funny about aspiring to occupy the White House, the people who support that precious institution want to know about it.

News Behind the News

Need Seen for Orderly Control of Spending in Years Following the War.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 31—Every one of the equally vast backlog of the war-time backlog of money is being turned into a war-time backlog of money. A guiding line of national thought has been set in the direction of the war-time backlog of money. The President is talking and Congress is acting.

The job ahead is to keep prices down, to keep the war-time backlog of money from being turned into a war-time backlog of money. A guiding line of national thought has been set in the direction of the war-time backlog of money. The President is talking and Congress is acting.

In some degree, all the front-page news of speeches and statements about the war-time backlog of money is being turned into a war-time backlog of money. A guiding line of national thought has been set in the direction of the war-time backlog of money. The President is talking and Congress is acting.

Deposits Soar
The truth is bank deposits have been rising lately at the rate of $200,000,000 a week—cash in the hands of the people is being stored at that amazing rate. The total of bank deposits now is about $110,000,000. In addition there is $20,000,000,000 (yes, billions) of cash held outside the banks.

The amount of cash thus stored by the people already in this war is about $130,000,000,000—good spending money, even money with no strings on it, a stack higher than the people ever held before, nearly two and a half times as much as they had in the big boom year of 1929.

The dean of government economists, E. A. Goldenweiser, of federal reserve, said in a speech to the Illinois bankers last week the "unprecedented rise in bank deposits" would reach between $125,000,000,000 and $150,000,000,000 by the end of this war. He estimated war expenditures to date at $210,000,000,000.

War Bonds
Now, in addition, the people hold war bonds already amounting to more than $70,000,000,000, bonds which can be cashed for postwar spending.

Thus the amount of spendable money and bonds in private hands today amounts to more than $200,000,000,000, practically the same amount as the government has spent on the war.

It may be unbelievable but it is true—the private purse today already has swollen to the unprecedented fatness of the government war chest so far, and this trend will continue. It will be $250,000,000,000 by the end of the war.

As everyone knows, furthermore, the people are short every item of living. Together this vast hoard of the people's cash and

Job Outlook

There will be many women asked and other workers who will want to relieve from the industrial field, and many soldiers who will not desire their old jobs back, but will want new ones (fully half will seek new employment in my opinion.) The farm boy who has become a flier will not want to go back to the plow, or the machine gunner to the shoe store. The labor problem therefore will be specific, not general, not "unemployment" but shortages here, surpluses there.

Dr. Goldenweiser in an article in the current Federal Reserve bulletin entitled "Jobs After the War," concludes that at our current expenditure rate of $200,000,000 a year dips up lower than $100,000,000,000 for the post-war period, the existing economic system can survive if it falls below $120,000,000,000, it would be "beyond permissible contraction."

He does not note there the cash on hand, and is careful not to recommend a government policy, but the situation seems to demand one beyond current talk—in short, a people's spending program.

The Wallace Trip To China

By James D. White

POPULAR CONCEPTION OF MR. WALLACE'S TRIP TO CHINA

WASHINGTON, May 31—There isn't so much mystery in Mr. Wallace's trip to China if you think a bit about what is going on in China, what is about to happen in that part of the world, and examine seriously what both Mr. Wallace and President Roosevelt have said about the trip.

Look closely at the government experts who went with him:

One is John Hazard, chief liaison officer of the Foreign Economic Administration's Division of Soviet Supply. Another is John Carter Vincent, chief of the State Department's Division of Chinese Affairs. The third is Owen Lattimore, Far Eastern specialist and deputy director of the Office of War Information.

In our government, Mr. Wallace is next to President Roosevelt, and as such will be received by the Chinese and Siberians. Never before has an American of such high official standing visited the Orient.

In China, he will find 450,000,000 people—proud with 4,000 years of national civilization, confused by ruinous inflation, all but exhausted by seven years of warfare.

President's Message

He will tell them: "Neither the swamps of Burma nor the Himalaya mountains nor Japanese warships shall stop America from bringing all possible and prompt aid to this great and enduring people." This is his message to them from President Roosevelt.

But he will find many Chinese. The Chinese are the hard-working masses who have stuck it out, symbolized to Americans by Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek. They also are the peasant "communists" in the north, isolated by China's largest politically effective class—the landlord-banker-merchant conservatives who are the financial backbone of Chiang's government—and they are the profiteers—like those who exploited the Burma Road, when it was operating, by smuggling in consumer goods instead of war materials.

China envisions herself to become a great industrial power. But no Chinese believe this can happen without aid from abroad.

The Future of China

President Roosevelt is said to visualize China as a great democratic stabilizing power in the Pacific of the future. But today China is ruled by a one-party government—different from that in Germany but containing the seeds of ultra-nationalism in some of its officials, according to a crescendo of reports from American correspondents who, at the same time, give the Chinese full marks for courage and inherent democracy.

In addition to taking a message to the Chinese people, Wallace is to do a reporting job. The President says:

"Eastern Asia will play a very important part in the future history of the world. Forces are being unleashed there which are of the utmost importance to our future peace and prosperity. The vice president, because of his present position as well as his training in economics and agriculture, is unusually well fitted to bring both to me and to the people of the United States a most valuable first-hand report."

Russo-Chinese Relations

In other words, the questions are raised: Where is China heading, now and after the war? Is she going to become an all-out democracy? Can her capitalists and communists get together?

DIRTY WORK AT THE CROSSROADS

Mrs. S. A. Johnson was complimented on her birthday anniversary at a meeting of the T. T. E. club at the home of Mrs. Jay Scribner of Wallace street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wilson returned to their home in Birmingham, Ala., after a visit at the home of Mr. Wilson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Wilson of 201 Carhart street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, May 31, 1924. The mystery of the kidnapping and death of Robert Franks, 13-year-old son of a Chicago millionaire, was cleared in Chicago when Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, also sons of millionaires, confessed. They said the kidnapping had been planned as early as the preceding November in a spirit of adventure and that young Franks just happened to come along on the day and at the time and place they had elected to abduct someone.

Miss Olive Fugitt and Forest F. Foss, both of Marion, were united in marriage by Rev. Earl L. Holliday, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church, at his home on Pearl street.

Wallace apparently agrees with what Lattimore and others have been saying for years—that the questions of our relations with Soviet Asia will become ever more important, and that peace in the Pacific depends fundamentally upon Russo-Chinese-American understanding.

Windy City Conventions

By Jack Stinnett

CHICAGO—Delegates to the Republican national convention here June 26 (and the Democratic convention which follows in July) are going to find Chicago a different host city than in previous convention years, but the chance will be so slight that no one who has slept in a foxhole in Italy or fought the jungles of New Guinea would notice it.

The Office of Defense Transportation and the railroads both assure me that delegates, alternates and convention "officials" won't have any trouble getting transportation.

Persons who have ridden railroads, especially in the south, middle west and west, may look on that assurance with some doubt. What is meant is that they will get tickets, some kind of sleeping accommodations and an occasional meal.

Once arrived, the order of the day is patience about getting taxis. I have heard estimates of a 10 to 50 per cent cut in taxis here. I can only report that they are scarce in spite of group-riding. The drivers are cagey too. They stay out of zones where they are likely to pick up fares to spots from which they will have to head back.

Chicago has always been one of the great hotel cities in the country and even when the largest conventions were in town, there was no real dearth of beds. Hotel officials assure me that such will continue to be the case and that no one will have to sleep in the streets.

However, don't get the idea that either hotel accommodations or service will be up to pre-war standards. Persons who had double rooms and suites in former years will have to take in roommates this season. The manpower shortage has made service one of the biggest hotel headaches but I haven't found in Chicago or elsewhere that it's any vital matter to complain about.

Those who woo the cup that cheers better bring their corn drippings with them. Over-the-bar beverages still seem plentiful and exorbitant at the clip joints are as reasonable as in your own home town, but bottled goods are another matter. According to reports, the black marketeers have cornered the bottled goods, with prices ranging from 36 a fifth for the "cheaper" brands to $17 a fifth for what you are used to.

As for the business, the real business of the convention—nominating candidates for president and vice president, the facilities are exactly what they used to be. The only problem will be to try to find a Some-body-for-President headquarters to hang around.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Trouble in the Home

KAISER trouble is sweeping America. It is in a revolt everywhere. Some-gone is done.

No matter what a man is asked to do, he says that it is beyond him. He says, "It's a good thing if Kaiser isn't like you."

The wife wants you to put up the window, you find them swollen, and after seeing your spinal cord, barking your teeth and taking off a ladder you say it's a job for a plumber. "Henry Kaiser dropped that ladder as you do the country would be a way," sneers the missus.

See I find something wrong with the house and wants you to do something right away. You fumble around a little and then say you are no good as a plumber. "Sure," Mr. Kaiser gave up on anything that see difficult," cramps the Little Women.

"I'm sick of it," declared Elmer Twain today. "I've left the house and am staying at a hotel. Nothing out Kaiser, Kaiser, Kaiser, day after another I wish they'd shut up about that guy."

"Mrs. Tatchell wanted some electric heat in her pantry. They wouldn't light when she plugged them in. I'm no electrician, and I told her to call a plumber. She said she never could understand why I told her that. Henry Kaiser could take over shipyards, airplane factories, gunshops or anything else and work miracles in 'em while some man couldn't even make a little portable electric heater work."

"Then she wanted some shelves put in a pantry. The only thing I can do with a hammer is crack nuts. And she knows it. But I never try at it and got nowhere. She threw me a meadow and said she didn't see how any man could read about Kaiser and still be as useless as me."

"But yesterday was the pay-off. I'd saved for plenty of stuff about what Henry Kaiser could do if his wife wanted him to fix a burner, put up some curtain rods, paint a porch or fix a loose door knob, and was about to blow, anyhow. This time our dog, Polka II, was sick and she asked me to get a pull down his throat while she held him."

"You know how tough a job like that is. The dog don't cooperate. Well, every time I think I've done it the dog goes over in a corner and just spits out the pill I keep at it for an hour and finally win. But the dog and I are born all in. I'm so far gone I need pills worse than the dog does."

"And what do you think. The wife looks at me in disgust and says 'You're certainly no Henry Kaiser.' That does it."

Wide-Awake Reading

By Truman Twell

Consider the custom of reading while sitting or reclining positions. Where did this come from, and where is it leading us?

Its origin lies, no doubt, in the fact that one time there was nothing to read but stone tablets. The reader had to sit down to get the reading matter in focus. Later, heavy books came along and, though these could be held, there was no place to put them, except on the lap, therefore readers had to sit down.

This practice persisted, and to this day one who doesn't sit down or lie down to read is looked upon as a character. Yet, all the while of the argument is in favor of perpendicular reading, with the book, magazine or newspaper held in the hands, or laid open on a convenient shelf, after the fashion of orators, radio performers and preachers.

It will be noted that these persons who have mastered the art of reading while standing are never known to start yawning in the midst of an interesting passage, or to fall asleep. They are bothered with reading indefinitely on the same page while struggling to stay awake, a common affliction of sidown readers.

When they want a handkerchief, they are able to get it without squirming, and if their legs get cramped they merely move into a more comfortable position. In a pinch, they can take a fast turn around the reading stand and back to the next line while the import of the preceding one is still soaking in.

Their hands and arms are free and comfortable. They can make gestures, scratch themselves, bore reflectively in their ears and do any one of a number of things denied to the sidown reader hanging onto a newspaper or a book with both hands. If tired, moreover, they can hook their elbows on the reading stand and take the weight off their dogs, in contrast to sidowners who cannot take their weight off anything.

Next to standing up to read, the most preferred position is to spread the manuscript on the floor and kneel in front of it. This, too, is guaranteed to keep the reader wide awake, attentive to what he is doing. It is particularly recommended for publications which feature maps and pictures, because the reader can creep around and get the benefit of all the angles.

Seriously, unless human beings abandon the notion that they can read only while sitting, a nation of illiterates. Sitting down to read is a fine way fine way to catch up on sleep, but a deplorably bad way to catch up on knowledge.

STATE LEAGUE TOPICS

SOME Ohio State league topics—Two new players have arrived in the camp of the Zanesville Dodgers—Presley Ward of Springfield, Mo., and Carl Lemon of Tulsa, Okla. Ward is a first baseman. They were to join the club Saturday at Springfield. Dick Eishop, regular Zanesville first baseman, probably will be replaced at that position by Ward and will move to center field. Pitcher Tom Breuch of the Dodgers has been holding down center field since Walter Bill, regular pitcher of that team, was hit on the head by a pitched ball in a game recently and was taken to a hospital. Bill Heckelsmiller, who was released by Marion a few weeks ago, stepped in as makeshift for the Mudmen.

Battle Royal Booked for Armory Mat Show

A battle royal will be staged in wrestling matches to be held at the Armory tomorrow night. Scheduled to meet in the first match will be Martin Levy "The Blimp," Gil LaCross, Irish McGee, Gorilla Colt, Steven Neufuss and Pat Riley. The first two to be floored when all six enter the ring will be through for the evening. The next two down will appear in the semi-final match, and the last two in the ring will return to meet in the main go, a two-hour match with two out of three falls to win.

Cubs Defeat Red Birds, 10-6, in Twin Bill Nightcap.

MARION'S youth-maturing Cubs left no doubt in the Ohio State league race over the holiday and gained a measure of confidence from winning into the books their first win of the season over the peppy Lima Red Birds.

Grover Hartley's Cubs were victorious in a two of three double bill with the Birds, dropping Monday night's opener, 7 to 5, and winning the nightcap, 10 to 6, in the seven inning tilt.

The 10-6 victory after Marion's 1944 loss to 19 triumphs and 17 defeats and gave Lima 15 wins and 13 losses.

Yesterday's four run win in the second bill of the twin affair was the first Marion win against Lima in six tries. Early in the game, the Red Birds landed a three run homer by Ed McGraw, who later scored on a single by Grover Hartley.

They finally decided to build a new practice field for the football team. The field is to be located on the corner of the school and the highway. McGraw is planning to build a new practice field for the football team. The field is to be located on the corner of the school and the highway.

As anticipated by club executives, Marionites turned out in droves for the holiday game. The season's second largest crowd, only lacking a shade of being the largest, showed up for the Memorial Day game. A total of approximately 1,100 were in the grandstand and the recently erected bleachers along the third base line Monday night about 300 turned out. Probably the top draw of the season was the Marion-Lima game May 2 when an estimated 1,100 marioned followers watched action.

Marion scored all its 10 runs in yesterday's afternoon in the first three innings, getting three in the first and second frames and four in the third. Lima bunched its counters into the second and third frames, racking up five of the total of six in the third. After Lead-off Man Bill Morneweg grounded out, Third Baseman Ed Labanara of Marion got on base by an error committed by Koma, gangling Lima shortstop. Labanara took second when Koma overthrew first. This limited the three-run first inning. Viri Minnis who tied his hand at first base in both of yesterday's games, walked. Bob McDonald fled to right and Shortstop Bill Brunkel, hitting the ball hard in all three games, singled to center field. Pitcher Bob Denney sacrificed him to second. Bill Morneweg walked and Labanara pushed a single to center, scoring Hansen, who had previously gone to third on a wild pitch by Lima hurler Lyle Emerick. Minnis singled to drive in Morneweg and Labanara. McDonald fled to Brunkel drew a walk to start the Marion third. Blunt singled to left with Brunkel pulling up on second. Funk fled to right. Hansen walked. With Bailey at bat, Emerick uncorked another wild one back to the stands and Brunkel scored with Blunt taking third and Hansen second. Bailey grounded to Third Baseman Tom Ivey of Lima, who threw home to catch Blunt but Catcher Marsh dropped the ball and a run was tabulated. Morneweg walked. Hansen came across when Labanara hit a grounder to the first baseman who couldn't catch the big Marion receiver. Bailey fished when Second Baseman Smith of Lima muffed Minnie's ground ball. McDonald fanned and Brunkel fled to Left Fielder Reside.

Ivey started the Lima second with a walk. Ivey singled him to second and the bases were filled when Smith walked. Ivey sent a fielder's choice when Labanara took Mac's grounder and put Ivey out at third. Unassisted Emerick ended things by flying to Morneweg in center.

The Lima third began with Schmiedekne doubling. Kresal singled to send Schmiedekne to third. Reside doubled along the left field line to score Schmiedekne. Kresal stopping at third. Blunt dropped Zema's high fly to right center and Kresal scored and Reside raced to third on the error.

"Red" Bailey then replaced Lefty Bob Denney on the mound. Ivey, first man to face the slender left-hander, walked. Ivey was out, third to first, but Reside came home on the fielder's choice, and Ivey traveled to second. Smith was issued a pass. Marsh fled to center, with Zema coming in after the catch. Emerick was hit by Bailey. Schmiedekne collected an infield single to tally Ivey with the fifth and last run of the inning. Kresal was whiffed.

Francis "Red" Bailey was credited with the win.

CUBS TACKLE LIMA IN SERIES FINALE AT PARK TONIGHT

Locals After Even Split in Fourth Game; At Zanesville Tomorrow.

Marion's aspiring Cubs will try to gain an even split in the current important series with Lima when the two teams tangle in the finale at Lincoln park tonight, starting at 6:30. Either Randy "Lefty" Edwards, Marion's top pitcher, or a record of three victories, and four defeats or Joe Hill will trail for the Cubs.

Marion was pushed deeper into the Ohio State league cellar as a result of Memorial day games so tonight's contest will be a key game for the locals. It will also mean a lot to the Lima Red Birds, who are now testing in second place after two wins over Marion Monday night and Tuesday afternoon.

NOTABLES HERE

Lincoln park was abounding in baseball notables Monday night and yesterday. Present for the Marion-Lima game were Al Bannister manager, Grover Hartley, president and Mack Cullon, president and manager, respectively of the Columbus Red Birds of the American Association. They, of course, were especially interested in Lima players for that State league team is a farm of the St. Louis Cardinals, parent club of Columbus.

Viewing the Marion team was Jack Sheehan, scout for the Chicago Cubs. Sheehan remained over for Tuesday's games and seemed to be positively impressed by the showing of the Marion team. Joe Donnelly, who fostered the rebirth of the State league this winter and is now president of the Lima team, was here for Monday's game and Frank Colley, acting league president was at Lincoln park yesterday.

A new plate and pitching rubber were installed at Lincoln park Tuesday morning. This news probably will be welcomed wholeheartedly by pitchers throughout the league. Both games of all doubleheaders in the State league after tomorrow, June 1, will go seven innings. Heretofore, the first contest generally has gone nine innings and the nightcap, seven. Allen "Costello" Angelo, the portly fellow who made himself quite well known locally, is no longer an Ohio State circuit umpire. Umpire-in-Chief Art Meier disclosed yesterday.

Rumors have it that Bob Boddy, Marion third baseman, might be traded to Lima for Barney, utility man.

Newcomers trying out for the Marion team this week have been: Lloyd Pace, right hand pitcher from Cardington; Shortstop Bill Kroukal of Blue Island, Ill.; Pitcher Wayne Johnson of Canton, Mo.; John Melko, infielder from Hamilton, Ont.; Lester Lauch of Blue Island, Ill. Pace started here as batting practice pitcher but may be promoted to a regular team berth. Grover Hartley thinks he has possibilities.

Marion citizens can help win the invasion by donating blood for the use of the armed forces. The dates are June 5, 6 and 7. Telephone 2439 and register.

WAYNE SMART

HARRY SHORT

Wayne Smart and Harry Short of Washington, D. C., two of the top players entered in Marion's Little Grand Circuit meeting at the county fairgrounds from June 4 to June 25. Both are veterans on the grand circuit and are well known among local racing fans for their many appearances here in little grand circuit meetings and county fair races.

Marion's Circuit Meeting Expected To Be "Greatest"

Extensive arrangements for will arrive here by the end of the week.

Local racing officials are anticipating such a large influx of spectators, drivers and owners that preparations are being made for possible quartering of some horses at the Delaware county fairgrounds. For the past few weeks, many stables have checked in at Delaware, which is planning a big meeting of its own. However, the Delaware county fairgrounds will still be able to accommodate some of the horses entered in the Marion meet, if the number of "Out burners" here is too large for local horsemen to handle. Prominent among horses to run in the Marion meet that have been in winter training at the Delaware track is Eva's Boy, one of the foremost 1944 Hambletonian favorites, owned by Walter J. Michael, Bucyrus industrialist.

Stables registered up to Monday at the Marion county fairgrounds are those of George W. Johnson of Eureka, Kan., C. D. Droeke of Shelbyville, Ind., a Fremont, O. entry of several head owned jointly by "three or four" men of that community and Robert W. Mason of Mt. Vernon. The C. W. Baker stable of St. Charles, Ill., is due in town Thursday. It consists of 10 horses, headed by Volio Song, winner of last year's Hambletonian, harness racing's Kentucky derby. Volio Song will be driven by Harry Fitzpatrick of Duquoin, Ill., veteran trainer and teamman. Estimated price of Volio Song is $50,000.

The Mason stable of Mt. Vernon is spotlighted by Bob Hope, top-rate horse which has appeared in several circuit meetings here and is a veteran campaigner on the grand circuit.

Secretary Foster reports that the county fairground track is in the best condition of its long history. Workmen have been "doctoring" the half-mile track for the past few weeks. Construction of a new barn to replace the speed barn which was destroyed by flames when fire swept the fairgrounds last winter, has been completed.

In commenting on the meeting, Foster said, "From all appearances, this will be the greatest meeting Marion ever had, or any half-mile track for that matter. It is practically a grand circuit meeting, only the track is not the required length of a mile."

As in former years, the 1944 meeting will be staged for the benefit of the Woman's board of the Marion City Hospital.

Birds Win Monday's Game With 4 in Fifth

A riotous fifth inning, which saw four runs cross the plate on three hits and two opposition errors supplied the Lima Red Birds with a 7 to 5 victory over the Marion Cubs in the four-game series lidiller at Lincoln park Monday night before 360 fans.
Marion accounted for four tallies in the second inning and led the Birds by a two-run margin until the first of the fifth. Catcher Jim Hansen, Pitcher Bob Roche, newcomer Johnny Melko, third baseman and Second Secker Eddie Labanara rang up Marion's four second stanza runs. Kresal right fielder, First Baseman Harvey Zernia and Third Baseman Tom Ivey scored on singles and Neil Reside, left gardener, tallied on an error for Lima's quartet of runs in the fifth chapter. Marion came back for another tally in the seventh when Shortstop Bill Broukal tripled to deep left center field and came home on a single by Catcher Hansen. Lima made it seven runs in the eighth when substitute Center Fielder March gained first base after being hit by Pitcher Roche, went around to third on a single by Kresal and scored automatically on a balk by Roche. Kresal, Ivey and Homa were

Sport Fans Throng Parks on Holiday

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, May 31—Nearly a million sports hungry fans—811,973—jammed race tracks and ball parks during the three-day Memorial day holiday.
Forgetting their wartime cares for a few hours, a total of 431,701 diamond followers turned out on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday for games in the major leagues and top minor league loops, the International American Association, Pacific Coast and Eastern. Other thousands saw games in the Southern Association, Pony, Interstate and Piedmont circuits.
Over the same span unofficial figures showed attendance of 486,272 at the 12 race tracks now operating. They tossed more than $22,234,311 into the pari-mutuel machines, a merry clip that set betting marks at Suffolk Downs, Hawthorne, Delaware Park, Bay Meadows, Charleson, North Randall and Beulah.
The expected first $4,000,000-betting day at Belmont Park did not materialize, but that track's $2,028 turnout set an attendance record. The Belmont throng wagered $3,559,097 of the record $10,326,027 bet by 247,556 at all tracks yesterday.

HI-Y SOFTBALL TITLE DECIDED BY FORFEIT

Central Junior Hi-Y forfeited the city Hi-Y softball championship to Thomas A. Edison Junior Hi-Y Tuesday when the stated number of players failed to appear for the contest, sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. A hardball game scheduled for yesterday was only two innings long when the field at Lincoln park had to be vacated. Marion McWhorter, boys' work secretary at the Y, said that a decision would be reached later on whether to continue the game.
The city marble championship, also sponsored by the Y.M.C.A., was to have been finished Tuesday, but ended a day earlier due to the fact that games were played faster than had been anticipated.
Richard Malarkey of Oakland school's fifth grade shot his way to the 1944 City Marbles championship Monday at the Central Jr. High playground. Malarkey battled his way first to the Oakland fifth grade championship then to the city fifth grade championship and then finished strong to sweep the all city crown.
Original plans to hold the finals on Tuesday were changed to avoid conflict with the Memorial Day events. The school championships and preliminaries were finished earlier than anticipated, making it possible to hold the finals before the contestants left the field.
Fifth grade school champions are: Onward Russell, Oak; Robert Walker, St. Mary Parochial; Homer Carr, Mark; Danny Day, Pearl; Franklin Mooney, North Main; Richard Malarkey, Oakland; Robert Beaver, Olney; and Roy Eberley, Greenwood.
Sixth grade school champions are James Seiter, Mark; Charles Carman, N. Main; and Eugene Neimeyer, Oakland.
James Seiter finished on top in the sixth grade finals to cop the all city sixth grade championship. In the all city match however he was defeated by Malarkey.

The referees and judges who officiated the tournament were Robert Peters, Robert Taylor, Carl Wilmeth, Warren McWhorter, Merle Jackson and Virgil Hollis.
